MRS. NETTIE A. RIVERS.
"With Heart quivering with Agony I realized that I must Die."

PHYSICIANS OF NO AVAIL!

Dana's Mighty to Save!

LAWRENCE, MASS., Aug. 9, '91.

DANA SANSAPARILLA CO.,

Kind Benefactors—I feel that I must tell you how much your SANSAPARILLA has benefited me. Some over two years ago I began to be troubled with a deathly faint feeling in my stomach, followed by a burning sensation, then a violent sick headache would set in and what I would suffer I can never describe—this continued for some time then my sick headache would be followed by fainting spells, which left me just the TO breathe of life. I lost flesh until I weighed but 62 lbs. Could take only weak beef tea, or a little chicken broth into my stomach, and sometimes even that would distress me. My husband used every dollar he could spare in employing the best physicians, but to no avail; they could not help me. Completely discouraged, I looked upon my husband and little child, and with my heart quivering with agony I realized that I must die.

One day a package of your Papers was left at the house—I read them—a ray of hope seemed to appear. I got a bottle. Before it was half gone, I began to improve. I continued using the PILLS with your SANSAPARILLA. I gained so rapidly that I became an object of wonder. I am now taking my ninth bottle, and weigh 127 lbs., and feel that I have fully recovered every way.

Accept my heartfelt thanks,

MRS. NETTIE A. RIVERS.

WHERE WAS FISKE?

Case Against the Hotel Keeper Dismissed in Boston.

Boston, March 25.—The case against Samuel B. Reed, the Haverhill private detective who was arrested in Haverhill on the morning of March 16th, charged with conspiring with Charles H. Fiske against the latter's wife, was dismissed in the municipal criminal court this forenoon by Judge Parmenter.

Mr. Fiske failed to appear in court this forenoon, and it is rumored that a settlement between the parties interested has been effected.

GUARDS WILL SHOOT THEM DOWN.

Russian Jews Warned Off the Domains of the Kaiser.

Berlin, March 25.—The Breslau Zeitung publishes an imperial decree prohibiting the passage of Russian Jews through Germany. The decree is very rigorous. A few Jews are endeavoring to get into the country despite the warnings they have received that they will be shot down by the frontier guards. It is said that 400,000 Jews are trying to leave Russia.

BAIL FOR ACTOR CURTIS.

Bonds in the Sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars Required.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Superior Judge Trout announced today that he would admit M. B. Curtis to bail in $50,000, adding that the sureties would have to be accepted by the District Attorney before Curtis could be released. Curtis is held pending a second trial for the murder of Policeman Alexander Grant in September last.

THE WEATHER.

Sunshine Today, Followed by Rain or Snow Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—[S. p. m.]—The following is the forecast of the weather for Maine: Fair; slightly warmer in the south portions; west winds; to be accepted by the District Attorney before Curtis could be released. Curtis is held pending a second trial for the murder of Policeman Alexander Grant in September last.

Boston, March 25.—Local forecast for Maine: Fair; slightly warmer; winds between south and west. Rain or snow Sunday. Possibly high wind on the Atlantic coast by Sunday.

HOPE OF THE ANTIS.

Republican Aid Wanted to Kill Bland's Order for Cloture.

THE SILVER MEN'S ONLY HOPE IS IN STOPPING FILIBUSTERING.

Next Monday the Day Selected and an Order Expected Then—Even if This Passes, the Anti-Silver Democrats Still Hope to Beat the Bill—Republican Leaders Want Party Lines Drawn—Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—If Mr. Catlings of Mississippi returns to Washington in time, a special order will be brought into the House Monday, for the immediate consideration of the Bland silver bill and the pending amendments. The anti-silver Democrats have been informed that this is the intention, and will use every means in their power to defeat the special order. Mr. Bland this afternoon disclosed his plan by the introduction of a resolution fixing Monday, March 28, as the date on which the bill for the free coinage of silver and the pending amendments shall be taken up and put upon its passage. Accompanying the resolution is a provision giving the Speaker power to refuse to entertain any dilatory motion. By this means, the silver men expect to prevent filibustering and bring the matter to a speedy termination.

Mr. Andrew of Massachusetts, one of the leaders in the fight against silver, and who has kept a close tally on the votes, said this afternoon that he was of the opinion that they could beat the special order of the committee, provided the Republicans would support the anti-silver Democrats and vote as they did on Mr. Burrows's motion. The he said, depends upon the Republicans, and they, at present, are not disposed to aid the anti-silver Democrats, their leaders stating that they believe each party should squarely align on the issue. There are several Democrats who voted with the silver men yesterday, upon whom the anti-silver men can rely for support against any special order cutting off amendments, and these few votes they say would be sufficient to change the result, with Republican aid. If beaten on the order, the anti-silver men will fight the bill itself with a substitute providing for an international monetary conference. The resolution of Mr. Bland makes the special order apply to the bill and the pending amendments. One of these amendments proposes a monetary conference as a substitute measure, and an effort will be made to have this adopted and the free coinage bill.

Thereby Shuffled for the Present

Mr. Andrew also said the Republicans had informed him that he could rely on their solid support (exclusive of course of the silver Republicans) upon a vote on this proposition, and they would vote together only upon a direct free coinage issue. He still has hopes, however, that as the anti-silver Democrats have shown that the Democratic party in the House cannot pass a free coinage measure without some Republican votes, the Republicans will consent to endeavor to kill the measure in every way possible. Should the monetary conference proposition fail, the anti-silver Democrats still hope to beat the bill on the direct vote.

SURPRISE OF THE SESSION.

What the Vote on the Silver Bill Revealed.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The iron hand of cloture is the only weapon that can throttle the opposition to the free silver bill and force a final vote on that measure in the House.

The vote on the motion to table the silver bill last night is the surprise of the session.

The advocates of the measure have constantly claimed from 30 to 40 majority on the passage of the bill, and the opponents of the bill have generally conceded a majority of from 20 to 30. The confusion is irretrievable, therefore, that a secret change of sentiment or of policy has taken place within the last few days in certain quarters, resulting, doubtless, from letters and petitions, and an analysis of the vote shows that this must have been the case, as the 38 or 39 absentees are understood to be about equally divided on the question at issue.

The filibustering tactics of the opposition last night showed conclusively that the anti-free coinage men can prolong indefinitely their dilatory tactics against the bill, and that a final vote can only be secured by the committee on rules bringing in an order naming in advance the day and hour on which the previous question shall be considered as ordered.

LAPHAM DETERMINED.

He Presents a New Bill in Behalf of the Menhaden Fishermen.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—In the House today, Representative Lapham of Rhode Island, introduced a bill providing that menhaden and mackerel may be taken with purse seines by citizens of the United States, in all the navigable waters within the jurisdiction and control of the United States, where the tide ebbs and flows so far as the United States has the right to regulate the rights of fisheries therein, any state law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding. This bill, Mr. Lapham hopes, will meet the constitutional objection urged to the bill previously introduced by him on the same subject.

Mr. Boutelle Speaks.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Mr. Boutelle, who opposed the silver bill, said today: "The solid Republican platform has again done the country a service and the failure of people to send a majority of Republican members to this House is the only reason the country has not been relieved from this strain of anxiety that is prevailing."

Mr. Reed's Bill Favorably Reported.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The House committee on military affairs today ordered to be favorably reported the bill introduced by Mr. Reed of Maine, authorizing the Secretary of War to convey to district No. 12 of Monterey, Me., a portion of the Fort McClary military reservation in exchange for other land.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

A. W. Littlefield has been appointed postmaster at East Newport, Me., vice P. Wilson, resigned.

The Paddock pure food bill, which has passed the Senate, will be favorably reported to the House.

Rear Admiral Kimberly will be retired on April 2d.

The Senate yesterday listened to eulogies of the late Senator Hearst of California.

The House was tired out after the silver battle yesterday, and transacted little business.

MADE THEM PRAY AND DANCE.

A Drunken Antic Reported to Have Caused the Drunkard's Death.

LEWISTON, March 25.—The Journal prints a despatch from Dexter, which says: Thursday afternoon Joseph Myreck shot and instantly killed Thomas Edwards at Sim's Mills, 10 miles west of Dexter. Edwards was a desperate character, and Thursday while Dr. Sims, went to the home of the old man Sims, Myreck's grandfather. Drawing his gun he made Mr. and Mrs. Sims dance, pray, etc., until the old couple became exhausted. Myreck was unarmed and powerless, but after Edwards left, he secured a shotgun and following him, emptied the contents into Edwards's head.

Elections at Bowdoin.

[Special to the Press.]

BRUNSWICK, March 25.—The following men have been elected to the editorial staff of the Bowdoin Orient: W. P. Chamberlain, '93; R. R. Goodell, '93; F. M. Shaw, '93; B. L. Bryant, '95; F. J. Libby, '94.

The Bowdoin Y. M. C. A. held their annual election last evening and the following are the officers for the year:

President—C. H. Howard.

Vice President—F. J. Libby.

Recording Secretary—A. L. Churchill.

Treasurer—E. R. Woodbury.

Representatives from Bates, Colby and the Maine State College are to meet at Bowdoin Saturday with a view to making arrangements for an inter-collegiate tennis tournament this spring.

Lost Sails and Cargo.

[Special to the Press.]

ROCKLAND, March 25.—The schooner James L. Maloy, Captain Bernet, which sailed from this port the 10th instant, time laden, for New York, arrived at Cape Sable, N. S., the 22nd, having lost her sails and deck load in a heavy gale. Two days out she encountered a heavy wind from the east, changing to the northwest and west-southwest, and before which she had been obliged to run. Her cargo of lime was from A. J. Bird & Co.

Fire in a Bath Church.

[Special to the Press.]

BATH, March 25.—Fire in St. Mary's church at 7.15 tonight was extinguished with slight damage.

Camden's Railroad War.

CAMDEN, March 25.—An important question came before the town meeting Monday is the choice of selectmen who will favor or oppose the granting of the use of the streets for an electric railroad from Rockland to Camden. The road is now under contract to the Camden line, Rockport having granted the privilege in the streets. There has been considerable opposition in Camden, but the outlook is now more favorable. The Republicans and Democrats are divided on the question and it will probably result in the election of a split ticket. The Republicans have nominated D. A. Campbell, O. B. Wooster and F. K. Shaw, and the Democrats T. A. Hunt, Captain I. W. Sherman and F. G. Currier.

Biddeford Surprised.

SACO, March 25.—After three months of freedom for the Biddeford rum sellers, a seizure was this afternoon made by two deputy sheriffs. One shop was raided and a large quantity of liquors taken.

Fell from a Train.

FARMINGTON, March 25.—Edward C. Knapp of West Farmington, a brakeman, fell from a freight train this morning at Wilton on the down trip. The train went over him, cutting off both legs. He was married but a short time ago.

Edwin Emery Loses His House.

LEWISTON, March 25.—Edwin Emery's house and all at West Poland burned Thursday. The buildings were insured for $700. The fire was discovered in an open chamber in the attic and is supposed to have caught from the chimney. Very few of the household goods were saved. The barn was not burned.

Saco Democrats Tired.

SACO, March 25.—Saco's Democratic aldermen held a secret conference with Mayor Bradbury Friday afternoon. The meeting was held at the instigation of the Democrats who believe the municipal force has gone far enough. They are anxious to compromise. A special meeting of the city council will be called Saturday night.

A New Route to Calais.

MATTAWAMKEAG, March 25.—While the Shore Line Railroad is moving slowly and its early completion is doubtful, some of the business men of Calais and other towns through which it would pass, are discussing a short line to Bangor and west by building a connecting link from Mattawamkeag to Princeton, a distance of about 40 miles, connecting at Princeton with the St. Croix & Penobscot, a standard gauge road of 20 miles which is owned by citizens of Calais and adjoining towns.

GLADSTONE TAKES A HAND

His Organ Will Oppose Salisbury's Behring Sea Policy.

IDEA OF ARMED COLLISION NOT ENTERTAINED IN ENGLAND.

Although the Thunderer Fears Results if Rival Feets Meet—British Politicians Hunting for Election Material in the Issue—Salisbury's Latest Note Sent to Washington—Sir Charles Tupper Wants a Canadian Attaché at Washington.

[Copyright 1892 by the New York Associated Press.]

LONDON, March 25.—Cable despatches giving the drift of the Behring sea correspondence as laid before the United States Senate have incited the Liberal leaders to adopt an attitude of opposition on the question. A week ago the Liberal leaders were inclined to support Lord Salisbury and the Liberal organs until yesterday took a view adverse to the position of the United States government. Now the whole tenor of opinions expressed in the lobby of the House of Commons indicates that the opposition means to seize on this chance to arraign Lord Salisbury as pursuing a needlessly vexatious course, instead of assenting to the reasonable arrangement offered by the Washington government. Tomorrow's "Speaker," Mr. Gladstone's organ will contain an "inspired" article which, after analyzing the expert evidence on seal-killing, maintains that the renewal of the modus vivendi ought to be assented to by the British government and continued.

"Why should the government be asked to promote the success of American adventures who deliberately undertake a dangerous speculative enterprise of doubtful legality and doubtful utility to mankind? At the outside, the capital and credit of those adventures amount to 130,000 pounds. Their success might make the fur seal

As Extinct as the 'Dodo.'

If the existence of the seal is at stake, how can the damages be measured? We are not going to war with the United States, not even in the interest of the federation of the empire. Pending arbitration, it is unjust to refuse to continue an arrangement which was a part of the condition under which arbitration was agreed on."

The Unionist organ, "The Spectator," takes the government side, but will have only a brief note advocating a settlement that will open the sea to Canadian sealers, with a provision for recompense to the Americans in the event of the decision of the arbitrators being against Great Britain.

Lord Salisbury's reply to President Harrison's last note ought to have been in possession of it in the Washington Cabinet today. The belief of the inner ministerial circle is that Lord Salisbury will agree to place an embargo on Canadian sealing in the open sea provided the United States government agrees to pay compensation for the arbitration decision against the American claims. Whatever may be the issue, the is dismissed on all sides here as supremely improbable, except by the "London Times," which calls attention to the danger of trouble if rival fleets meet in Behring sea.

Within the House of Commons interest in the question centers solely in the question of how much party advantage may be derived from the controversy. Outside of Parliament, popular interest in the question is very slight. Replies to inquiries made at the Admiralty do not support the rumor that orders have been sent to Admiral Hotham altering the movements of the Pacific squadron. The officials know nothing of a change of programme since it was fixed January 27 and confirmed March 2. From the dates of the orders, it is evident that the movements of the vessels cannot be associated with an acute stage of the Behring sea difficulty. Sir Charles Tupper has throughout been the advisor of the government. Among his suggestions is that Lord Knutsford, the colonial secretary, should be the permanent appointment of a Canadian attaché to the staff of the British legation in Washington to act as special advisor on Canadian affairs.

WILL RATIFY THE TREATY.

But Not Until the Modus Question Has Been Settled.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Senate in secret session this afternoon reached a practical agreement to ratify the Behring sea arbitration treaty with a provision that the ratification shall not take effect unless an agreement is reached on the modus vivendi issue. No formal action was taken on the treaty and it went over until Monday in order that absent senators might be notified to be present on that day.

The seriousness of the Behring sea situation is shown by the fact that Secretary Blaine attended the Cabinet meeting today, notwithstanding the fact that he has not yet fully recovered from his recent severe attack of the gripe. All the other members were prompt in attendance. Secretaries Foster and Tracy had a conference prior to the meeting, presumably in regard to the orders to be sent to the naval and revenue vessels to be assigned to the duty of patrolling the sealing grounds. It is practically settled that this service will be assigned to the war ships Charleston, Baltimore, Boston, Yorktown, Adams, Ranger and Mohican, and the revenue vessels Corwin, Bear, Rush and Albatross.

The entire session of the Cabinet was devoted to the consideration of the Behring sea question. It is understood that this government will await a reply from Lord Salisbury to the President's note of the 22d inst. before proceeding on the assumption that Great Britain will not co-operate in measures for the protection of the sealing industry.

Father and Son Dead.

CONCORD, N. H., March 25.—Herbert Gideon Welles of Hartford, Conn., grandson of ex-Secretary Gideon Welles and a student at St. Paul's school, died last evening, aged 15 years. His father, Hon. Thomas G. Welles, came here last week on account of his son's illness and died from pneumonia on Sunday.

MINERS BREAK BOUNDS.

Almost a Reign of Terror in the Durham District.

LONDON, March 25.—The Durham miners are quite out of their leaders' hands, and scenes of violence are of daily occurrence at all the idle pits. The men are waging a deliberate war upon the press, because the papers refuse to support them in their extravagant demands. The reporters do not dare to attend the meetings of the strikers, of which there are scores held daily. Serious disorders in many districts come to light slowly, not having been reported at the time of their occurrence, for the reason given. The Newcastle Chronicle has shown considerable enterprise in making arrangements to keep its readers informed of the actual state of affairs. Finding that its reporters could not, without risking their lives, go openly to the meetings and among the strikers, the managers of the paper caused the reporters to be disguised as pit men, and in this way has been able to publish accurate statements of the progress of the movement from day to day. Seven houses at the Littleham colliery were wrecked by the disorderly strikers yesterday. Officer Shield's house was partially demolished, and his wife was injured by stones that were thrown. Several houses were also wrecked at the Oldboyne colliery. At Brandon, Officer Munn was almost killed while endeavoring to preserve order. The county police have been reinforced and are now forming posts, connected by telephone, making a network throughout the disturbed district, so that a large body of officers can be summoned to any desired spot on very short notice. A fourth ballot on the question of continuing or abandoning the strike is in progress, and will occupy some days. It is believed that the majority will favor giving up the fight, which now seems hopeless to every one but the extremists.

FAVA MAY RETURN.

That Is if This Government Grants what Italy Asks.

ROME, March 25.—It is reliably affirmed that Baron Fava will resume the duties of Italian ambassador at Washington about the middle of April, if as is expected, the question of the New Orleans lynching indemnity shall have been arranged.

Signs of War in the Skies.

WARSAW, March 25.—Rumors of war fill the air here and they are given the appearance of truth by the presence in Poland of an immense number of soldiers gathered from many parts of the Russian dominions. Of late several balloons have been hovering over Russian fortresses and they are believed to form a part of the extensive German balloon spy service. Russian military authorities believe that the handling of the balloons that have appeared over Russian territory give good grounds for their belief that France and Germany possess an efficient balloon service.

Germans Condemn Free Silver.

BERLIN, March 25.—The discussion in the American Congress of the silver question has attracted much attention in Germany. The newspapers nearly all agree in the belief that the free coinage of silver would be a bad thing for the United States. Dr. Koch, president of the Imperial German Bank, said to an Associated Press correspondent, "that Germany would take part in a monetary convention provided Great Britain agreed to participate."

A Compliment to Mr. Blaine.

LONDON, March 25.—The Chronicle says: "Mr. Blaine, having added highly advantageous treaties with the republics of South America to the enormous resources of the United States can therefore afford to wait for reciprocity with Canada or any other country on its own terms. This is the true explanation of the failure of Canada's negotiations."

AFTER MANY YEARS.

MAKES HIMSELF AN IDIOT.

Hard Words Caused by President Eliot's Speech to the Mormons.

BOSTON, March 25.—President Eliot of Harvard College, has, if he is reported correctly, made an unfortunate speech in Salt Lake City. Mr. Eliot and his wife are making their annual tour of the West, and, in a speech before 7,000 people in the Mormon Tabernacle, he is charged with glorifying the Mormons by comparing them with the New England Puritans and expressing the desirability of allowing them full religious liberty. The president of the Mormon Community thanked him, but the Gentiles are angry and amazed. "The Salt Lake City Tribune," commenting on Mr. Eliot's speech, says:

"There was an attempt here under the guise of religion to extend universal license to a licentious community, to make what is punished as a crime in all civilized countries a sacrament of Almighty God, and that made trouble. And when by innuendo President Eliot seeks to convey the idea that through that conflict those who were waging a war for right, for civilization, for the safety of the American home, were doing wrong, he simply makes an egregious idiot of himself."

The keynote of President Eliot's visit to Salt Lake City is thus explained in his remarks in Denver to the Harvard graduates:

"We had an accession to Cambridge in the shape of a Mormon colony. It is an excellent institution and a very desirable one. There are ten Mormons now attending the university and the preparatory schools in the neighborhood. I have been invited to be the guest of the Latter Day Saints during my stay in Utah. The nationality of Harvard becomes wider and wider each year."

MUTINY AND DEATH.

Terrible Tragedy of the Voyage of a Boston Vessel.

IT ENDED IN ATTEMPTED MURDER AND A SUICIDE.

Chinese Cook and Steward Plotted to Murder the Officers and Seize the Ship—The Cook Weakened and Was Nearly Killed Himself—The Steward Had Be- fore Caused Alarm.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 25.—Ship Annie M. Small of Boston, from Trapani, was spoken entering the outer harbor by a press representative who learned from Capt. Howes that a plot had been concocted by the cook and steward, who are Chinamen, to murder the captain and his wife. The cook recanted from his murderous design which so infuriated the steward that he made an attempt to kill the cook, hacking him all to pieces with a sharp knife. The steward then thinking that the cook would not from the wounds, committed suicide by taking opium, and his body was committed to the deep.

The Chinese cook is out and hacked almost beyond recognition and Dr. Morrow, who boarded the ship this afternoon, ordered his removal to the Chelsea Marine Hospital. His wounds may result fatally. His name is John Quong and that of the steward who assaulted him and later committed suicide, was Ew Sing. The captain said that they were very attentive to their duty and appeared to show the utmost kindness, both to the officers and sailors, during the voyage from New York to Marseilles and thence to Trapani. Three weeks ago, the steward showed symptoms of insanity and tried to kill himself when he was placed in irons.

and confined between decks. Examination being made, a large quantity of opium was found. After a week's confinement, the cook interceded with the captain to liberate the steward, which was done and good behavior was promised. However, on a later occasion, the steward was discovered prowling about the captain's room and that of the mate at night. He was again put in irons and confined to his room. About a week ago, he was liberated, but was again found to be acting as before.

The captain having reasons to believe that a conspiracy was going on, armed himself with a revolver and ordered the steward not to come into the cabin again, taking a boy with him to do the cabin work. The captain and his wife, becoming alarmed over the situation, did not go to bed, and everything went along smoothly until 2 a. m. on Tuesday last, when the mate, rushing into the cabin, said the steward was killing the cook in the galley. The captain and officers, together with the watch on deck, broke open the galley, where they found both men on the floor. The steward with a knife and butcher's axe was Chopping the Cook to Pieces.

The steward retreated to his state room. When the door was fastened, the wounded man was taken into the cabin and his wounds dressed. The cook, who could speak some English, told the captain that the steward had conspired with him to kill all the officers, together with the lady, and seize the ship. This he first consented to but, having nothing against the captain and his wife, he recanted the murderous plot which infuriated his countryman and led him to commit his rash deed.

The steward, seeing that his plan had been frustrated, and thinking the cook had been killed, committed suicide by swallowing a large quantity of opium.

The body was committed to the deep in the afternoon. The captain and his wife were very kind and had given the Chinamen no provocation for conspiracy.

Cleveland Endorsed.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 25.—Yesterday the legislature adjourned sine die. Just before closing, the House passed a resolution endorsing Grover Cleveland for the Democratic presidential nomination.

MAINE TOWNS.

Bridgton.

SOUTH BRIDGTON.

Fred N. Berry of Newton, Mass. is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Berry, both of whom are sick in this place.

B. O. Smith and John Jolenson are about to leave here for Massachusetts to spend the summer. Also Ernest Ingalls, all young men starting out for themselves, in accordance with the "way of the world."

Mr. Alvah Johnson and his family of eight children several of whom are very young, are left by the sudden decease of the mother in a sad way. Mr. Johnson himself not being well from a late severe illness. Mr. Johnson is a carpenter by trade, an ex-soldier and withal the staunchest of Republican stalwarts.

Red Bros., have closed their season's work in coat manufacturing, but have already received work on the new season, and anticipate a lively season, the fashion having been little slower than usual, and made still more so by the inroads of the grip on their employees.

Farmers are anticipating a lively season with increased interest in dairying, an impetus given by the prospect of a new industry in the form of a condensed milk factory which is still we believe embryonic though among the more glorious possibilities.

Casco.

Mr. Thurston and wife of Otisfield have recently moved to this village where he is employed in F. B. Nichols saw mill.

Johnson Edwards after a long illness died March 18 aged 72 years. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hamilton of Mechanic Falls on Monday. He leaves a daughter and two sons.

Rev. Mr. Staples and Rev. Mr. Cox have been holding meetings here the past week. It was a profitable meeting and considering the traveling there was a large attendance.

"Kings are like stars, they rise and set." But they have aches and pains like men, and just as surely call for salvation Oil.

VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

An Organization Effected by South Portland Young Men.

An enthusiastic meeting, attended by twenty-five of the most enterprising and progressive young men of Cape Elizabeth, was held in Union hall, South Portland, last evening. Wm. H. Gardiner was chairman and Wm. E. Allen, secretary.

The records of the preliminary meeting held one week ago, were read and approved.

The committee appointed to make inquiries and examine the rules and regulations and methods of the Deering Village Improvement Association, reported the substance of an interview with Mr. F. O. Bailey, the president, and presented a copy of the by-laws of that association.

From the report of the committee it would appear that the original idea of the movers in the South Portland association had been to make it an exclusive young men's association, but the committee had been advised not to restrict the membership in any way as such a course would tend to defeat the object of the society.

Following the report, Mr. Herbert R. Cole and Mr. Chas. A. Studley spoke upon membership restriction, and advocated the admission of lady members. Mr. Studley made a motion that ladies be admitted members, and the same was voted and carried without opposition.

The meeting then proceeded to the business of permanent organization. On motion of Mr. Niles Nelson, it was voted to elect officers by ballot. Ballots were prepared for the office of president with the following result, plurality electing:

Niles Nelson had.....11
L. S. Arey.....6
J. F. Merriman.....6
Wm. H. Gardiner.....6
John E. Donnell.....6
W. E. Allen.....1

The election of Niles Nelson was made unanimous, and ballots were prepared for vice president.

On motion of Mr. Gardiner it was voted to leave the office of second vice president vacant for the time being with intention to fill it by electing a lady member at a later meeting. The vote for first vice president was as follows:

L. S. Arey.....10
J. F. Merriman.....10
Fred Henley.....1
W. H. Gardiner.....2
John E. Fisher.....1

Mr. Arey withdrew in favor of Mr. Merriman, and the election of the latter was made unanimous.

The vote for secretary resulted in the election of Mr. W. C. Allen, but he felt obliged to decline on account of other business engagements and resigned in favor of Mr. Ira M. Davis, the next highest candidate.

The vote for treasurer was as follows:

Charles A. Studley.....16
H. H. Cole.....3
David U. Williams.....3
Wm. H. Gardiner.....2
John E. Fisher.....1

The other principal office decided upon consists of an executive council of 18 members. A discussion arose as to expediency of filling this office at the present, and it was finally voted to appoint a committee who would select the 18 council members in such manner as would give representatives from all parts of the town so far as practical. The following committee was appointed by nomination from the floor: R. H. Cole, L. S. Arey, W. H. Gardiner, John F. Merriman, B. L. Cole.

The name, South Portland Improvement Association was adopted. President Nelson then took the chair and made an acceptable address, in which he spoke briefly of needed improvements to be made, and outlined a progressive policy, which he hoped would be pursued.

A committee on by-laws, and other minor committees were appointed, and the meeting then adjourned.

OBITUARY.

John E. Donnell.

Mr. John E. Donnell died in this city yesterday aged 78 years. He was a shipwright by trade, and forty years ago established a shipyard at Falmouth, where he constructed a large number of vessels. Among them were the bark T. O. Powers (the first large vessel built by him) of about 400 tons burden, which he afterwards sold to the late Hon. J. B. Brown; the bark Floyd, ship Evening Star, Capt. Charles Frost, ship Kitty Floyd and ship Lone Star. When the rebellion broke out Mr. Donnell disposed of all his vessels at great profit, realizing a handsome fortune. He never doubted the success eventually of the Union forces and his investments were made with that conviction.

Mr. Donnell had large real estate interests in Portland. Among his property is included the great block on the corner of Pearl and Middle streets occupied by the Atkinson House Furnishing Company, and the stores on the opposite side of the street now occupied by A. Little & Co. He purchased his beautiful residence on the Western Promenade from Capt. Henry Inman, who built it at the close of the war.

Mr. Donnell served in the city government as a member of the board of aldermen under Mayor McLellan.

He leaves a widow, three daughters—one of them Mrs. Leese, so long superintendent of nurses at the Maine General Hospital—and a son, Mr. Wm. E. Donnell of the New York Tribune.

Dr. Charles R. Crandall.

A despatch received here yesterday from Denver announces the death of Dr. Charles R. Crandall of that city, formerly a resident of Portland. Dr. Crandall had been sick for some time with a complication of diseases. His wife was with him at the time of his death. He was a native of New York but practiced medicine here on Manjoly hill, for several years. He served a term on the school committee from Ward 1, and frequently delivered public lectures. He was a man of considerable ability and had attained success in his profession.

Thomas J. Clancy.

The many friends of Thomas J. Clancy will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred at his home on Washington street yesterday afternoon. He was a member of the Montgomery Guards and the Drexel Club, and he was very popular with the members of both organizations. His father, mother and brother and sister survive him.

Obituary Notes.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Farley, the oldest minister in Brooklyn, N. Y., and the oldest alumnus of Harvard College, died Thursday at his home, No. 130 Pacific street, at the age of nearly ninety-two. He was pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Saviour for nearly a quarter of a century, but retired almost thirty years ago, and had since lived in retirement at his home in Brooklyn.

Branhall Lodge, No. 3, K. of P., will confer the Knight's Rank on 15 candidates at a special meeting this evening.

Mrs. T. E. Corrin is the wife of the well known grocer of 108 Preble St., and can be found at her home (which is now 108 Preble St.) and will cheerfully substantiate this statement, as will her husband, who has the utmost faith in Allen's Sarsaparilla.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 30, 1891.

I have suffered continually for the last 15 years with pain in the kidneys and bladder. Sometimes I would have sharp, darting pains, and at others it would be a steady, dull ache; but it was continual suffering from one day's end to another. I could not describe it if I should try. The passage of water was accompanied with smarting and burning, and my bowels were continually constipated. I have not been free from pain for 15 years until I began to take ALLEN'S SARSAPARILLA. About 4 days after beginning its use I began to feel better, and before I had taken half a bottle, was entirely free from pain, and have not had any since. My bowels also have been free and regular for the first time in many years. ALLEN'S SARSAPARILLA has done for me what no other medicine could do, as I have tried everything, and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine, but nothing ever helped me one-tenth part as much as one bottle of ALLEN'S SARSAPARILLA. If anybody doubts these statements, they can come and hear it from my own lips; I shall be pleased to tell it.

THE ASTOR SENSATION.

Something About the Noted Family Now Unpleasantly Prominent.

"A scandal in the Astor family? Impossible! They have their faults of course, but as to a question about their women—why, they simply aren't assailable!"

Such was the exclamation among the Four Hundred and of many others; but the report proved to be true. Not only is an Astor accused, but she is the center of the center group, and almost the social head of the family. She is now Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton, and her husband is eager to shoot or slash Mr. Alsop Borrowe on her account.

The Astors are American nobility, it there is such a thing—that is, the wealth has been in the family now four generations, and every scion of the family has married in their own rank. There have been no mesalliances. The original John Jacob Astor founded the family, as every one knows. He was born at Waldorf, Switzerland, in 1759, and died at New York in 1848. He founded the Astor Library and several other things, and left $20,000,000 to his oldest son, William Backhouse Astor. William died in 1875, aged eighty-three, and after the munificent provisions for all the kindred and many charities were carried out, there was still at least $50,000,000 to divide between his two sons, John Jacob and William.

At this stage nice distinctions became necessary, for old John Jacob's other grandchildren live in New York; so by common consent John Jacob Astor became the head of the family and his wife the very head of the heads and cream of the cream of New York society. She alone was "Mrs. Astor." All the others had to put their initials on their cards. She was originally Miss Augusta Gibbes, of Savannah, and her only child is the Hon. William Waldorf Astor, who has done something in literature and diplomacy, ran once for congress from New York city and was turned down so beautifully that the ward heeler has not got done laughing about it yet.

MRS. J. COLEMAN DRAYTON.

This Mrs. Astor died in 1887, and so Mrs. William Astor became simply "Mrs. Astor" and the society head of the family. She was Miss Schermerhorn, daughter of that Abraham Schermerhorn who was worth a million or two and therefore great in his day, though at present he would not be counted as "in it" among the rich. The new "Mrs. Astor" is conspicuously qualified for a social leader. Her mansion on the avenue and her country places, her parlor, and more than all her famous Paris dresses, which the cruel customs officers seized and sold—are they not celebrated in all the papers?

Her four daughters were all beautiful, and Augusta, the third, was the most beautiful of the lot. Ten years ago she married Mr. J. Coleman Drayton, of the noted Drayton family in Philadelphia, and they have three children. "Incomparability" developed, she made a friend of Mr. Borrowe, and now she is in "retreat" near London, her children are with her husband's friends in Wales, and Mr. Drayton is seeking an opportunity to shed some of Mr. Borrowe's blood.

HER NINETY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY.

The Long and Eventful Life of a New England Poetess.

A few days ago Mrs. Susan F. Fillmore, of Providence, celebrated her ninety-seventh birthday. She is the daughter of Samuel Cook, of Boston, and Ann Brown, of Plymouth, Vt. When but eight years old her father made a voyage with his father to the West Indies. About this time the Revolutionary war broke out. On the lad's return home the vessel in which he sailed was captured by an English privateer. After being held a prisoner for several years he escaped and returned to Boston. Upon the admission of Vermont as the fourteenth state, he went to Plymouth to seek his fortune. Here he became a civil engineer and married Miss Brown.

Susan was their second child. She was born on the 12th of March, 1795. On growing up she found the educational facilities of Plymouth very limited. The school house was an old log cabin, and around it the children often saw the tracks of wild beasts. When Susan was fourteen years old her parents removed to Jay, Essex county, N. Y., where the schools were about like that in Plymouth. Learning that there was an academy at Plattsburg, forty miles distant, she made her way there penniless. She gained a livelihood by making clothes for the soldiers of the war of 1812, which was then in progress. In the course of time she became the head of a young ladies' school. When President Monroe visited Plattsburg she and her pupils strewed his pathway near the school with flowers. Later she became the wife of the Rev. Daniel Fillmore, known as the peacemaker of the Methodist denomination of Massachusetts. Before he died he succeeded in establishing Wesleyan university, having collected $10,000 for it in small sums.

Five children were born to Mrs. Fillmore. The only one living is Dr. Fillmore, of Providence. Mrs. Fillmore is very fond of poetry, and has written much herself. She made her ninety-fifth birthday especially notable by writing a poem on the occasion.

Scotch Manure Heaps.

In Scotland farmers first clean up all the horse, cattle and hog manure in the fall and haul it out to where it is to be needed and deposit it all together in a "middens" forty feet square and five feet high, without tramping, and when the work has been finished the pile is covered with a foot of loamy soil and allowed to stand until May. When it is hauled out it is like soft soap and can be put in the cart with a spade.—J. Gaunie in Rural New Yorker.

Suing a Railroad.

Mrs. Mamie Caldwell, a New York colored woman, has brought suit against a southern railroad company for $5,000 damages for refusing to permit her to ride in a first class coach and compelling her to travel in the smoking car. Mrs. Caldwell had purchased a first class ticket. T. McCants Stewart, a colored lawyer, has charge of her case.

Indigestion, Dyspepsia

Symptoms.—Distress or oppression after eating, acid eructations, belching up of gas or acid, loss of appetite and strength, nausea, headache, palpitation, sallow complexion, depressed spirits, hideous dreams, and a multitude of other miseries too well known to the average American.

To us science has never given a remedy for this distressing disorder, but Nature has given to the untutored Indian a never-failing remedy. It is undeniable that Nature provides for every want of man and beast; and, through the noble Kickapoo tribe of Indians, she has given us a vegetable compound of herbs, roots, barks, and flowers, called which is unfailing in its cure of all digestive and blood disorders. Indigestion and Dyspepsia are frequently caused by impure blood. Sagwa is Nature's own blood purifier and regulator of the human system.

The Cotton Picker.

A hundred per cent a month seems like a big interest, but if the men who furnished the money originally to Prof. Bell to place his telephone on the market had loaned it at one hundred per cent a month, their profits to this day would not have been half those actually realized from their investment in the stock of the company. The enterprise turned out to be one capable of earning profits which not the most sagacious could have foretold. The invention was one which occupied a field until then untrodden, and the extent to which the public would wish to utilize it and pay for its use could have been but pure guesswork in advance of its actual introduction. No data were at hand, no figures, no information, no facts. That it would be profitable many people thought, how profitable, none could venture to guess. From the nature of the case, only after offering the invention to the public and observing to what extent they availed themselves of its advantages, could any accurate estimate of the profits be made, nor, indeed, could it be positively known that there would be any profits. The Cotton Picking Machine does not enter upon a new field in this sense at all. It does not, like the telephone, create a want to satisfy. On the contrary, it satisfies one existing. For years the cotton raisers of the South, crushed and almost annihilated by the methods of harvesting by the unaided fingers of the negro, have expected, or hoped for, or dreamt of, this relief. It has come, and one has only to pick up a Southern newspaper with a reference to the machine to learn with what joyous hosannas its coming is hailed. It can, therefore, be known beforehand just what the demand will be for the Lone Star Cotton Picking Machine. This demand will be for just the number required to harvest the 9,000,000 bales, produced annually. The earnings of each machine for the company at a royalty of $4 a bale are known beforehand, and the company's profits and the eventual value of its shares are mere matters of calculation. It is safe to say that this company will develop an earning capacity equalled by no industrial enterprise of this century, and that its shares will acquire corresponding value at an early day. The Cotton Picking Machine is in operation daily at the company's office, 31 Mill Street, Boston, Mass., where stock in single $10 shares or in blocks to suit can be now purchased.

THE PRESS.
SATURDAY, MARCH 26.

If there was ever any doubt as to Speaker Crisp's attitude on the silver question that doubt was removed on Friday. When the roll-call showed 148 in favor of laying the Bland bill on the table and 147 against it Speaker Crisp directed his name to be called and voted in the negative—thus saving the bill from defeat. Another illuminating feature of the day was the vote of Congressman Rockwell of New York. Rockwell is the man whose seat the committee on elections declared belonged to a Republican, resisting the personal solicitations of Hill to decide otherwise. Coming from New York he could not vote for free silver without misrepresenting his constituents. Nevertheless his vote was given for it. Doubtless he was influenced to some extent by the hope of ingratiating himself with the majority of his party and thus keeping his seat, but that motive would never have been sufficient to induce him to so vote if Hill, who owns him, had wanted him to vote differently. The inference is inevitable therefore that his vote represented Hill's views on this question.

It is not to be wondered at that the feeling of exasperation in this country against Canada is increasing, and that it should show itself in propositions looking to severe measures of retaliation against her. Two of Canada's great railroads, indeed her only railroads of any consequence, derive a great part of their revenue from traffic originating in this country, and from traffic too very much of which is carried on between the states of the American union. These roads are permitted to do business in this country on terms as favorable as our own roads—indeed on terms more favorable for the inter-state commerce law does not interfere with them to the extent that it does with our own roads—yet our American fishing vessels are not allowed to transship their cargoes at Halifax and send them by rail to this country, they are not permitted to buy bait or supplies in a Dominion port except on payment of a heavy license fee, and within a few years they have been treated in those ports very much like pirates, even the privilege of sending ashore for medical assistance being in some cases denied them. Then too, the pending controversy in Behring Sea has taken on its present disquieting aspect entirely by reason of the importunities of Canada—importunities which have their origin in jealousy and hatred of the United States and a desire to make us all the trouble she can. Up to the present time the United States has been exceedingly forbearing. The privileges of Canadian railroads in our territory have been left untouched, and Canadian vessels have been permitted to use our ports for whatever lawful purpose they desire, but without any effect to change Canada's treatment of our interests. That a considerable portion of the public should be fast coming to think that it is about time to change this policy and pay Canada back in her own coin is not surprising.

President Harrison's reply to Lord Salisbury's note refusing to renew the modus vivendi puts the English government in the attitude of having agreed to arbitrate a question, and then acting while that arbitration is pending as if the question had been decided in its favor. The controversy between the two nations is over our right to prevent the catching of seals in Behring Sea, and that is the question that England has consented shall be arbitrated. But in refusing to renew the modus vivendi Lord Salisbury practically says that though England will consent to refer the question of the right of her subjects to catch seals in Behring Sea to an impartial court and will abide by its decision, it will until that decision is given, which may not be for several years, assume that that right exists and permit her subjects to catch all the seals they can. It is pretty well settled that if the poachers are allowed to do this for a few years, or even for one year, there will be but few seals left, and the question of our right to prevent the taking of seals in Behring Sea will cease to be a practical one. That is before the arbitrators have decided the question it will have ceased to be a question of any practical consequence. For the United States to consent to arbitration and while the arbitration is pending to consent that the Canadian poachers should kill the seals, would, it seems to us, be little short of stultification. If we are going to give that consent, directly or indirectly, we might just as well abandon our whole contention in regard to Behring Sea, and let our own vessels enter the sea and do all the seal catching they want to. Indeed this would be better policy, for then our people would get something out of the sea, whereas if the Canadian poachers are allowed to go there while our own people are warned off, we shall get nothing, except possibly a decision from the arbitrators in our favor, not given until the time has long gone by when it could be of any practical value to us.

It seems quite clear that as regards the renewal of the modus vivendi the United States is in the right and England in the wrong.

THE SILVER BATTLE.
Mr. Bland's silver bill was not quite killed in the House on Thursday, but it was so badly damaged that its author was forced to haul it off. The strength of the anti-free coinage men proved much greater than was anticipated, and this, together with better generalship on their part nearly succeeded in shelving the bill for this session. The various roll calls showed that the great majority of the Democrats were in favor of the bill while the great majority of the Republicans were opposed to it—a fact of itself sufficient to make it clear to the country which party is the party of sound money. It is quite evident that public discussion of the silver question has tended to augment the strength of the opponents of free coinage, though probably a good many of the Democrats who voted against it and the most of those who refused to vote at all, are just as strongly in favor of that policy as they ever were, and acted as they did merely for the sake of keeping the issue in abeyance for the present lest it might injure Democratic chances in the next Presidential election—or, to put it another way, equally truthful, for the sake of enabling the Democratic party to appeal to the opponents of free silver for votes as well as to the advocates of that policy. On the question of free coinage uncomplicated with other questions there is no doubt whatever that the House would vote in the affirmative by a considerable majority. If it does not do so before the present session is ended it will simply be for the reason that a sufficient number of Democrats who believe in the policy will have been convinced that to push it at this time will be dangerous to party success in the pending election, to defeat it for the time being with the help of the Republicans, who will vote against it on principle.

Offer a limited amount of
ATHOL WATER COMPANY,
First Mortgage, Gold, 5 Per Cent.
Bonds, at Par and Interest.

The Athol Water Company is organized under a special act of the Legislature of Massachusetts, which gives it a perpetual franchise. Athol is one of the most prosperous and rapidly growing towns in the State of Massachusetts, having a present population of 6,600. The works were built in 1876. The water, taken from the highlands above Athol, is distributed through two large storage reservoirs by gravity to the town below. The earnings of the Company are largely in excess of operating expenses and interest charges. The present and prospective value of this property renders these bonds attractive to investors desiring a safe as well as profitable investment. Further particulars given on request.

WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

Rev. H. S. Whitman Offered the Presidency of the Institution.

The students of Westbrook Seminary have formed an Athletic Association. These are the officers:

President—James P. Coombs.
Vice President—G. E. Noyes.
Secretary—L. C. Holston.
Treasurer—Ernest Halliwell.
Executive Committee—J. P. Coombs, chairman; Albert Robinson, R. P. Ricker, L. C. Holston, G. E. Noyes.
Base Ball Committee—Messrs. Robinson, Noyes and Holston.

Mr. Noyes was chosen captain of the base ball club.

The intention of the association is to join the Maine State Inter-Scholastic Association, whose field day will occur at Lewiston, June 11th.

It is rumored that the presidency of Westbrook Seminary which has been vacant since the death of Rev. J. P. Weston, has been offered to Rev. H. S. Whitman, and that he will probably accept the position. Mr. Whitman was for several years pastor of the Universalist church in Augusta, and he has more recently acted as the state missionary for that denomination. He is one of the best known and most respected of the Universalist clergymen of Maine.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

A Decision by the Supreme Court in the Breckenridge Case.

The Supreme Court of Maine has just rendered a decision in the case of Joseph C. Breckenridge vs. Mary A. H. Lewis, tried in the Superior Court here at the February term, 1891. This was a suit on a promissory note for $3000, of which the defendant was the maker. The payee of the note was John S. Morse, formerly of this city. The plaintiff was an accommodation endorser, who was obliged to pay the note at maturity. He brought suit against Mrs. Lewis, whose defense was that she never signed the note; that either the signature was forged, or if it was her signature that the note was fraudulently written over the signature by Morse without any authority, and without her knowledge and consent.

Mrs. Lewis admitted having given to Morse her signature, witnessed by her daughter, upon blank pieces of paper, with authority in him, as her agent, to write over that signature an order or orders on savings banks. Her attorney claimed that, if the note had its inception in this way, it was a forgery and not binding on her, even in the hands of a bona fide holder.

Judge Bonney, at the trial, ruled in substance that, although the note was fraudulent in its inception, if the plaintiff endorsed it as an accommodation endorser before maturity, and with no knowledge of its fraudulent inception, he was entitled to recover. The verdict was for the plaintiff for the full amount of the note. The defendant filed a motion for a new trial and exceptions to the judge's rulings. The full bench has now overruled both motion and exceptions, and has affirmed the judgment of the lower court. The rescript in the case is as follows:

One who intrusts his signature to another for commercial use, that is, to have some business obligation written over it, becomes held upon a negotiable promissory note fraudulently so written by the person so entrusted with it, and negotiated to an innocent holder.

An accommodation indorser of such note, without notice of its infirmity, who takes it up at maturity in discharge of his own debt to the holder, or in consideration of his own note given therefor, may recover the contents thereof from the maker.

An innocent holder, in such case, is one who has received the note before maturity for value, and without actual knowledge of its fraudulent inception. Motion and exceptions overruled.

This ends a hard fought case, which has been in the courts for the past three years. The attorney for the plaintiff was Frederick V. Chase of this city, and for the defendant Edward Avery, A. A. Strout and W. H. Coolidge, all of Boston.

A Gun for the Cumberland.

The steamer Cumberland has a brass cannon occupying a commanding position on the roof of the pilot house; this unusual piece of ordnance is a "Lyle gun," whose principal project is to fire a specially prepared shot weighing about 14 pounds to which is attached a strong linen line many hundred feet in length, thus establishing communication with the shore, should ever the steamer by any means be placed in such a perilous position. In addition to the first named the steamer has some 1500 feet of 3-inch manilla, which would be drawn ashore by means of the smaller line, after communication with the shore had been gained as above described. The gun with extra lines and suitable ammunition has been placed on board in compliance with the law, requiring all steamers of over 500 tons burthen to be thus prepared against such an emergency.

THE NETTIE CUSHING

Suffers Injury in the Gale and Loses Her Captain.

The schooner Nettie Cushing was taken in tow some twenty miles off Portland Head yesterday by the schooner Forest Maid and towed to this port. In the gale of last Wednesday, on the passage from Thomaston for New York, she lost her main boom, had her mainsail torn, and her captain was washed overboard and drowned. She is owned in Thomaston.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Uncle's Darling.

"Uncle's Darling" is a melo-drama calculated to suit the palate of all lovers of the realistic school. Its scenes are laid in Alaska and British Columbia, and it deals with the fortunes of "Little Dar," who, in the person of Miss Hettie Bernard Chase, leaps into popular favor with her bright, winsome face, her musical laugh, her songs, dances and banjo solos. There are several strong situations in which the villain is thwarted, and several scenic effects like the wreck and rescue, at the close of the first act, and the aurora borealis in the third act, that arouse great enthusiasm and demands for the raising of the curtain. There is a most attractive little "kid," in the shape of Ned, Little Dar's brother, personated by Master Charlie Wathen. The other members of the company, including Mr. Chas. W. Chase, Mr. Frank Calhoun, Will McRobie, Mr. Will H. Stevens, H. C. Tait, Jr., Charles Samuels and Miss Newton who are very good. Among the varied attractions of the piece are a trained team of reindeer, a trained horse "full of tricks as the sands of the sea" (as the playbills put it) a great Danish dog and a famous English mastiff, a troupe of genuine Esquimaux dogs, a trick mule and a trick bear and several seals. The fact that the present flurry over the Behring sea question is attracting universal attention will cause more than usual interest in this play. There will be a matinee and evening performance today, and a parade of the animals headed by the company's marine band in the forenoon.

Symphony Orchestra.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra, sixty musicians, Mr. Nikisch, conductor, and Mrs. Nikisch, solo vocalist, will be heard in the regular Stockbridge course Tuesday evening next. The orchestra has been earning golden opinions wherever it has played the last season. New York and Philadelphia have been delighted as well as critical. A charming programme is expected on this occasion.

Du Chailou.

Paul B. Du Chailou will be at City Hall in the Stockbridge Popular course next Monday evening, and lecture on his travels in Equatorial Africa. An exchange says:

Mr. Du Chailou's lecture, which was profusely illustrated with stereopticon views, dealt entirely with his five or six years' wild life and explorations along either side of the equator and through the dense, immense forests of Africa. The lecturer's recital of his adventures with the gorilla, elephant and other wild animals, as well as the natives, and his quaint delivery, sense of humor and peculiar imitations of African men and beasts were received with delight, especially by the younger portion of his audience, who for years past have been so well entertained by his books of travel and adventure.

Rossini Club.

Under the auspices of the Rossini Club a recital will be given at Kotschmar Hall, Saturday evening, April 9th, by Miss Neally Stevens, a talented American pianist, who comes with the highest testimonials from renowned masters of Germany and this country. Mrs. Paulsen-White, a young Norwegian lady and charming singer, will give two numbers of the programme.

Notes.

The Duff Opera Company will appear in City Hall under Mr. Stockbridge's management April 11th, 12th and 13th in "A Trip to Africa," "Viola" and "Queen'smate."

Attention is called to the sale of seats at Stockbridge's for Primrose & West; Herrman, the great magician; the Stoddard lectures, and Gilmore's great jubilee concert.

The rehearsals for "The Mikado" are progressing most favorably and the opera will be given in great shape at City Hall.

It is said in London that the Kendals' share of the profits of their three American tours, reach a total of £100,000.

Maurice Barrymore will not be the leading man at Palmer's theatre next season.

Joseph Jefferson has been elected as the representative American actor to the International Theatrical Exhibition in Vienna next summer. It will cost him $20,000 least.

William Redmund has left the Rose Coghlan Company, and signed for two years with Manager W. M. Wilkinson as leading man of the Alexander Salvini company.

Pauline Hall is soon to produce a new opera in Boston, music by Edgar S. Kelly, book by C. M. S. McLellan, the last her husband's brother.

Manager Charles Frohman has 15 companies on tour and 300 artists playing in them. It takes 40 business representatives to handle these companies, and three bookkeepers and one auditor to handle the business representatives.

Nineteen dramatists are writing plays for him and gross weekly royalties paid out to them foot up $12,000.

The season of Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau's grand opera in Boston closes tonight. The company will then go to New York for two weeks.

ASTONISHED NO ONE.

Wonder Was He Held Out So Long.

A clerk fainted from nervous exhaustion on returning home. Overwork and nervous strain broke him down, with the addition of Spring Debility so prevalent at this season of the year. The same applies to thousands of over-worked clerks, mechanics, shop girls and others who see themselves growing thin in flesh, pale and sallow, and find themselves losing their physical strength and strong nerve. They grow weak, nervous, tire easily, have dull feeling head, wake tired mornings, lose their appetite, become constipated, feel miserable, old. They are rapidly breaking down, and should use immediately the great nerve strengthener and blood invigorator, Dr. Greene's Nervura. It is the best Spring medicine in the world, and will give a clear head, strong and steady nerves, vigorous strength of body, and thus enable them to keep up to their work.

The Grip also, has left in its train thousands of weak, nervous and debilitated sufferers who should use this great strengthener and restorative tonic if they desire to recover their former health and strength.

"I had indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation cold feet and hands, sleepless nights and was very nervous. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura, and now have no more indigestion or dyspepsia. My nerves are strong, have no more palpitation, no cold feet or hands. I sleep well and get up refreshed. In fact, I feel I am myself again, all due to Dr. Greene's Nervura. I am positive everybody will be benefited by it."

CHAS. A. TITTSWORTH,
243 Seventh st., Jersey City, N. J.

Dr. Greene, the successful specialist, in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 34 Temple pl., Boston, Mass., can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write to him about your case, or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining the disease, giving advice, &c., will be returned free.

A Chance for Canoeists.

A canoe club has been formed in this city with the object to promote interest in canoeing, and any young man desirous of spending a pleasant summer among the islands of Casco Bay will do well to communicate with the secretary at No. 17 St. Lawrence street. The following are the officers of the club:

President—Charles Baker.
Secretary—William M. Looke.
Treasurer—Jos. H. Wood.

The Standard Clothing Company beg to call your attention to the "Rugby" School Suit. Ages 4 to 14 years, cut double breasted, made from a strong all-wool fabric.

Each garment seamed throughout with linen, double stitched and taped, with extra staying wherever hard wear or strain comes.

Every suit warranted and a new one given in exchange for one that rips.

Extra trousers $1.50.

Cloth for repairing with every suit.

For the hard wear and tear, and rough and tumble of school boy life these suits—PRACTICALLY UNTEARABLE—are invaluable.

At $5 per suit they are worthy of attention.

Suits sent C. O. D., with privilege of examination and returning if not satisfactory.

Mrs. Marion Crosley of Springfield, formerly of this city will conduct another European tour the coming summer. This time two trips have been arranged, one of 42 days and the other of twice that length. The party will leave New York June 25th by the steamer Aurania. Mr. Crosley and Rev. Geo. W. Bicknell, both former pastors of the Church of the Messiah of this city, will go with the party. Further particulars of the trip may be found in our advertising columns.

EPPS'S COCOA.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may conquer a full shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half-pint tins, by grocers, labelled thus.

OUR CHEESE COUNTER.

We can remember when twenty years or more ago one good Vermont Cheese was all that it was necessary to carry in a well ordered Grocery. It seemed to meet the requirements of our trade fully as well as the many kinds which we are now obliged to carry to hold our reputation as headquarters for Cheese, in this city. People are living higher nowadays than they used to be. There is, perhaps, no article in the line of food on which tastes differ so widely, some like the new and tasteless, others the most ancient, sharp and even moldy and all the intermediate stages of age, strength and flavor have their friends.

We submit a list of imported and domestic Cheese which we carry constantly in stock.

BRIEF JOTTINGS.

Steamer Frank Jones will be launched at Bath today.

An insane woman was taken to the station last evening.

The Mile Track Association will meet at the Preble House at 2.30 p. m. today.

Yesterday was another fine spring day; the mercury touched 48° at 2 p. m.

The Young Men's Republican Club will start a whist tournament this evening.

The Portland Savings Bank will be closed at 1.45 p. m. today, during the funeral services of the late George D. Rolfe.

The children's temperance meeting and entertainment will be held at the Gospel Mission this evening, at 7.45 o'clock. All are invited.

Rev. J. J. Lewis will deliver his illustrated lecture on the Passion Play of Oberammergau at Congress square church, April 12th.

Will those who wish to enter articles for the sale connected with the Woman's Exchange on April 8th and 9th, give notice at once to 119 Winter street?

The Little Women will meet with Mrs. Colby, 5 Stetson place. All members are requested to attend, as it will be an important business meeting.

The county commissioners have petitioned the governor and council for the pardon of Michael Feeney, in the county jail for liquor selling. Feeney is very sick, with the chances that he will not recover.

The Monday meeting for Methodist preachers will take place at Y. M. C. A. rooms, and the subject for discussion will be opened by Rev. H. Hewitt of Woodfords: "What are right and necessary politics in the affairs of our church?"

This afternoon, at 3 o'clock, Judge Putnam will take the oath of office before Judge Webb, in the United States Circuit Court, and in the evening the banquet will be tendered him at Gilbert's Hall.

Rev. Hannah T. Pratt was able to lecture last Tuesday evening at Pleasantdale, and will preach again next Sunday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, in the Bradley Corner church. She makes all classes welcome, and is unsectarian in her services.

Rev. William F. Livingston of North Abington, Mass., formerly of Fryeburg, has resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church, having embraced the views of the Episcopal church. Mrs. Livingston was Miss Margaret Vere Farrington, the authoress.

W. C. T. U.

The meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Baxter Hall, yesterday afternoon, was not very largely attended, but those who were present were much interested in the papers read by Mrs. Percival Bonney and Mrs. J. B. Coyle. At the conclusion of the reading, Mrs. George S. Hunt announced that the subscriptions that were being made for the benefit of a lady whose husband had deserted her and taken away her children, were progressing favorably, and that investigation showed she was deserving of all the assistance she could obtain.

Bible Lecture.

Rev. B. L. Whitman, of the Free street Baptist church, will speak at the Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday, at 4.30, on "Our attitude toward the Bible." Mr. Whitman's well known ability makes it certain that the subject will be treated interestingly. All young men are invited. No admission fee is charged.

Cooking Lecture.

The ship in the water is safe but the water in the ship sinks her. So it is in frying, let the article to be cooked absorb the fat and the weight will sink it. It should lightly float. Miss Barrows will demonstrate today how delicately a chicken croquette or a cream fritter can be made and will also serve a dozen nice puddings.

Shall We Get an Opera House.

Mr. T. Schwartzchild of this city is now in negotiation with certain capitalists of New York city to build a hotel and theatre combined, with stores underneath, providing suitable accommodations for the same can be had. It will probably be located on Congress street.

Any one walking on Congress St. can not fail to observe the immense pile of Onion cigars in C. H. Guppy & Co's window. The demand for the popular cigar is enormous. Mr. Alden informs us that it is almost impossible to fill orders promptly. Light colors are the demand and sell the best. We advise our readers to try them. They are excellent.

DEERING.

Special Meeting of the City Government.

A special meeting of the Deering city government was held last evening. Mayor Merrill nominated and the council elected the following board of health: Dr. C. W. Foster, Dr. F. D. Coleman and Mr. George Russell.

The Mayor presented to the board a request of the assessors for directions as to the method by which the valuation should be taken. After discussion participated in by Aldermen Nevens, Hutchins and Johnston, it was voted that a valuation of both real and personal property be made by a personal canvass by the assessors.

A proposition of Mr. John E. Warren for the purchase of some gravel from the town farm was discussed. The gravel required by Mr. Warren is of a peculiar character, such as is used for filters. The council decided to consider the matter after looking the gravel over.

It was voted that the section of the charter relating to care of city buildings be construed so as to leave to the school committee the hiring of janitors and running expenses of the school buildings.

Mr. L. Frank Jones was sworn in as treasurer, collector and clerk, and his bond of $40,000 was approved.

It was voted that the city lease of Captain Lewis his interest in Lewis Hall for $250 a year, with $50 extra for janitor service.

Alderman Hutchins presented the matter of dividing the city into wards, which must be expedited in order to have the registration of voters and other necessary formalities perfected in season for the September election. The matter was discussed and a committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. Jacobs, Mitchell and True, to draw up a plan for the council to consider.

The council then proceeded to the consideration of the by-laws.

Rocky Hill Lodge's Anniversary.

Rocky Hill Lodge, K. of P., celebrated the seventh anniversary Thursday evening at their hall in Woodfords. Tables were set the whole length of the hall. Both the hall and tables were handsomely decorated by the ladies. A hundred and fifty sat down to the dinner. Among those present were Past Grand Chancellor J. F. Chute of Portland, who instituted the lodge seven years ago, Captain E. C. Milliken, of the Uniform Rank, Portland Division, Past Chancellors E. C. Reynolds and A. F. Moulton, and Deputy Grand Chancellor H. S. Thrasher.

Speeches were made by the visitors and by Dr. Foster and L. B. Dennett, Esq. Between the speeches were interspersed instrumental music by Mrs. Fall of Portland, and singing by Miss Hattie True of Deering, Judge I. L. Elder presided.

A union temperance meeting under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will be held Sunday evening at 7.30, in All Soul's church.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens will give an address, and the pastors of the other churches will take part in the exercises. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Girl Missing.

Little Bertha Ross, between ten and eleven years of age has been missing since Thursday afternoon. The girl lives with her father, Eben Ross, a hack driver, and her stepmother at 57 Hanover street. Thursday afternoon she returned from the Casco street school and after changing her clothes left the house and from that time no knowledge of her movements can be ascertained by the grief stricken parents. It is thought possible that a man may have enticed her away. He enticed her and a companion into a barn sometime ago, was arrested for assault and sentenced to thirty days imprisonment.

Base Ball.

At a meeting of the directors of the last season's ball club of this city, it was the opinion of all present that a league started on a business basis with each club posting a sum of money guaranteeing to finish the season, with moderate salaries, would pay. Messrs. Leonard and Greenleaf, committee of the league, were instructed to report at the league meeting to be held in Boston next Wednesday night, that Portland would enter a league on those conditions. It is said Pawtucket, Woonsocket and Manchester and probably Lewiston, will enter the league.

A Departure.

The crockery department of the Atkinson Company is going to be one of the most attractive features of the new department store soon to be opened by that company. No pains or money has been spared to make this department the equal of any in the country. In another column the company has a word to say by way of introduction that ought to interest every lady in Portland.

Against a Liquor Agency.

A petition against the establishment of a liquor agency in South Portland, was circulated by the ladies of that place yesterday and received many signatures. The petition is a counter movement against a recent vote of the town authorizing the selectmen to establish a liquor agency.

Montgomery Guards.

A special meeting of the Montgomery Guards will be held this evening, March 26th, to take action on the death of Comrade Thomas J. Clancy. A full attendance is requested.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers of real estate in this county have been recorded at the registry of deeds: Westbrook—Edwin H. Moses to Second Advent Society.

THE CHAPMAN WILL.

Portland People Remembered in the Testament.

The will of the late T. A. Chapman was filed in Milwaukee Thursday.

There were no public bequests. The personal property is valued at more than $500,000, and the real estate worth over $500,000. It is optional with the executors to continue the business or close it out.

The executors are Laura B. Chapman, his widow; Alice Greenwood Chapman, and Laura A. Miller, his daughters; and George P. Miller, his son-in-law.

The residence on Cass street, Milwaukee, and the lots adjoining it are left to his widow; at her death they are to revert to his daughter Alice.

W. C. Chapman of Gilead, Me., is given all the testator's property in Gilead, Ketchum, Bethel and New Rye, in the county of Oxford, Me.

His daughter, Mrs. George P. Miller, is given the house and lot now occupied by her. It is valued at $55,000. Should Mrs. Miller die her husband is to receive $25,000 in lieu of any claim he might have on the estate.

Mr. Chapman restores to his brothers and sisters all the notes and obligations he held against them.

His nieces, Mary Brown Thurston, Clara Brown Thurston and Jessie Louisa Thurston, of Portland, are given $500 each.

His sister, Amanda Thurston, of this city, receives $1000.

His nephew, Augustus T. Chapman, is left $5000.

Martha Chapman, wife of William Chapman, is given $500.

The house and lot at 108 State street, Portland, is devised to Mr. and Mrs. Brown Thurston.

School Committee Meeting.

The regular meeting of the School Committee for approval of bills was held yesterday afternoon. All the members of the board except the Mayor were present. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Bradley.

The committee on estimates and expenditures reported bills to the amount of $9,323.18. The bills were approved and the meeting adjourned.

The Boston & Maine road has just issued a new schedule of second class western passenger rates. The fare to San Francisco is put at $54.70, or $3 below the Boston & Albany rate.

No Wonder HOOD'S Sarsaparilla
That People Speak Well of

Mr. R. J. Brundage of Norwalk, Ct., of the firm of Buxton & Brundage, expressmen, 159 Main Street, writes his experience below:

"For a long time I have been troubled with a weak stomach, followed by

Indigestion and Dyspepsia

A short time ago I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and took three or four bottles. Result, I have not felt so well all over for years. My food seldom troubles me now. My sister, who was troubled about the same way as myself, took Hood's Sarsaparilla with very pleasing results. I do not wonder that patrons all along the line speak so well of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Don't see how they can help it." R. J. BRUNDAGE, Norwalk, Ct.

Mr. B. H. Rose

Is well known in Rochester, N. Y., as head of the firm of Rose & Eddy, wholesale and retail dealers in general hardware and house furnishing goods, at 137 East Main Street. The statement of so prominent a man must

Command Attention

"I send this unsolicited as I feel to congratulate myself that I used Hood's Sarsaparilla. Six months ago my digestion was very bad, and I had almost a case of

Chronic Dyspepsia

I was also broken down by over-work, so that I could not sleep nights. My stomach is now perfect, my nerves in excellent shape, and I have gained 10 pounds in 6 months. For all this benefit my gratitude is due Hood's Sarsaparilla. Accept my best wishes for the best medicine in the land." B. H. ROSE, of Rose & Eddy, Rochester, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
